Myhorizon and SLES

What is SLES?

SLES stands for School Leaver Employment Support, and is funded through an individual's NDIS package.

This government funded program is designed to prepare school leavers with the skills and experience they need to get them job-ready before they enter paid disability employment.

How can Myhorizon support you?

Myhorizon has over 30 years of experience supporting individuals in South East QLD to reach their employment goals.

We create meaningful employment opportunities and careers across most industry areas. We pro-actively support our clients and guide them through the entire process so you can confidently transition from school to paid employment.

We have strong connections and partnerships with employers and local community groups so we can ensure our clients are given tailored opportunities and skills that are meaningful, practical and that builds their capacity to achieve real employment outcomes.

What SLES supports can Myhorizon provide?

How are Myhorizon different?

Myhorizon's reputation is built on personalised and localised service. Our priorities are not to grow our employment service nationally, but instead we focus on supporting and strengthening our local communities.

We do this by guiding you through the NDIS process and providing opportunities that are tailored to each individual that comes through our door.

We listen to the needs, goals, and the personal circumstances of each individual to make sure that we work towards the best possible employment outcome for them.

What our clients say...

"The assistance I have received from Myhorizon has been outstanding. I was dispirited from other employment agencies because it seemed no one cared or listened to my needs." – G.A.

"I couldn't be more happier with the help I have received from Myhorizon. Their disability support services have been the best I have received from any other provider" – B.C.
